Welcome to campus!

In your hands is a valuable resource that, if used appropriately, can connect you to a variety of IT resources and provide you with a wealth of important campus dates and events!

This is the 15th year of our ever popular Student Services Calendar. As NC State University continues to expand and grow in information technology (IT) services to meet the needs of students, faculty and staff, so has the information in this useful calendar.

In no time, I expect that your calendar will be filled with events, club meetings, sports, and even a few parties. It will become a symbol of your efforts and the time-management skills that you will need to be successful in your college career. The Office of Information Technology (OIT) also offers Google Calendar, a time-management Web application; many resources such as the academic and athletic calendars are already set up to feed this electronic calendar.

Regardless of the calendar you use, campus IT experts are here to support you and help you to integrate your personal technology into learning and social situations to develop innovative and exciting technologies.

At your fingertips are a variety of resources — the NC State Help Desk, wireless networking, computer labs, Google Apps, IT security, mobile and more. For IT support, dial the Help Desk at 919.515.HELP (5-4357) or email help@ncsu.edu. You can also take a stroll to the OIT Walk-in Center, centrally located in the West Dunn Building, for computers and technology support.

As you begin your journey, remember to safeguard your digital footprint. My best IT advice, as NC State’s chief information officer (CIO), is — protect your IT security and IT privacy!

Your IT security and IT privacy are under your control, so don’t be a victim. Take advantage of the many support services OIT and others provide on campus. Let us help you be successful at NC State!

ACCEPANCE OF THIS AGREEMENT
The student's WolfTV or telephone service will be connected only after the OIT application form (from the OIT or Housing websites) has been completed by the applicant and received by OIT. The student's electronic signature via the Web binds the student to these terms and conditions and signifies that the student has received, read and agreed to abide by all conditions, terms and policies contained within the agreement.
In addition, it authorizes OIT to charge the customer's student account for requested services.

WOLFTV AND TELEPHONE SERVICE
The WolfTV contract is in effect for cable services and features from the date the subscriber signs it, either electronically or physically, and remains in effect through the current academic year as long as a valid Residence Hall Agreement or Greek Village housing commitment is in effect or until the subscriber submits a Request for Change form, either via paper form or through the WolfTV website (go.ncsu.edu/wolftv) canceling service. Subscribers are responsible for notifying OIT of a change of service via the WolfTV website. Failure to notify OIT may result in continued charges for service.

FEES AND CHARGES
Charges for repair visits as a result of equipment failure in subscriber-provided equipment will be billed to the subscriber at $50 per hour.

PAYMENT OF BILL AND COST OF SERVICE
WolfTV: $192.50 per room per semester. Charges are placed on the account of the first roommate that signs up for the service. Students may sign up for or cancel service throughout the semester, however, a minimum charge of 30 days' worth of service will be billed to the student's account for each sign up. The charge is prorated from the service sign-up date.
Local telephone: $67 per line per semester. This charge is non-refundable unless the student cancels service prior to the beginning of the semester or moves out of university housing.

SERVICE INTERRUPTIONS
Network service may be interrupted on occasion. ResNet will work to restore service as soon as practicable; however, NC State and ResNet are not responsible for any losses or damages caused by service interruptions or other failures in university equipment.

DAMAGES
The subscriber will be assessed a fee based on the time and materials for the repair of any damages to university telephone and/or cable facilities with a minimum charge of $100 per incident.

GENERAL INFO/RATES

- All WolfTV channels are delivered in high definition when available.
- You must provide your own TV and cable cord (coaxial cable used to connect from the wall to the back of the TV).
- The TV must have a tuner capable of receiving a digital, Clear QAM signal. Converter box information is available on the WolfTV website.
- The only way to change/modify WolfTV service is the WolfTV website: go.ncsu.edu/wolftv.
- The rate for WolfTV is $192.50 per semester/per room, and the service is active one business day after sign-up.
- The full WolfTV charge is placed on the student account of the first roommate who signs up for the service. The charge is prorated daily and is assessed based on the date of signup.
- Please note: Service selections carry over from fall to spring. Each semester is billed separately. Students may sign up for or cancel service throughout the semester. A minimum charge of 30 days’ worth of service will be billed to the student’s account for each signup.

TROUBLESHOOTING

- Make sure your TV is programmed for cable, not aerial (antenna) TV. The setup menu on your TV set should read “Cable.” Once this has been verified, use “Auto Program” or “Channel Scan” on your TV.
- Make sure that your TV has a digital receiver capable of receiving a Clear QAM signal. Most current TV sets do, but older “tube” televisions typically do not.
- Try running the cable wire directly to the back of the television and bypassing any external device.
- Borrow a cable wire from a different room. Switch the cable wire to see that corrects the problem.
- More troubleshooting tips are available at go.ncsu.edu/wolftv.

COPYRIGHT/PEER-TO-PEER ISSUES

- What is copyright? Copyright is the legal protection given to original works you create. It arises immediately and automatically as soon as you “fix” your work in a tangible medium of expression, such as text, recordings, photographs, movies, Web pages, drawings, email, etc. Publication and/or registration with the U.S. Copyright Office is not required; neither is putting a copyright notice on the work.

- Why should you care about copyright? You are both a user and an owner of copyrighted material. You cannot use (copy, modify, display, perform or distribute) copyrighted material of others - even for nonprofit educational purposes - unless the copyright law says so or the copyright owner gives permission.

COPYRIGHT/PEER-TO-PEER ISSUES

- Federal law requires NC State to implement procedures, including technology-based deterrents, to prevent unauthorized peer-to-peer sharing or distribution of copyrighted materials. If you repeatedly infringe someone’s copyright, NC State must terminate your computer account.

- Potential consequences of copyright infringement can include:
  - Civil suit damages ranging from $750 to $30,000 per infringement
  - Criminal penalties of up to five years in prison, fines up to $250,000 per offense, court costs, and attorney fees
  - Disciplinary action by NC State including potential loss of access to your NC State network connection or Unity account or even expulsion.

COPYRIGHT/PEER-TO-PEER ISSUES

- You are responsible for understanding university policies and copyright law well enough to use copyrighted material responsibly and defensibly. An entire industry has developed to serve the needs of those who wish to download copyrighted materials legally. Being uninformed about policies or laws will not get you off the hook.

OIT supports nine public Unity computer labs that are open to all NC State students, faculty and staff with active Unity accounts. These labs are equipped with Macintosh, Windows and Linux workstations. Each workstation is installed with an assortment of commonly-used commercial and freeware applications. Visit oit.ncsu.edu/unity-labs for more information.

OIT provides assistive technology software on all Unity lab Windows workstations in partnership with the Disability Services Office (DSO). OIT also maintains at least one accessible workstation in every Unity lab. More information about the DSO is available at ncsu.edu/dso.

NC State provides a remote access service that allows you to reserve and use a computer remotely over a broadband Internet connection. Linux, Solaris and Windows environments are available. You can choose from applications such as Matlab, Maple, SAS, Solidworks and many others. For more information about access requirements and getting started, please visit vcl.ncsu.edu.

OIT provides student information kiosks that give you convenient access to frequently used resources such as email, Wolfline bus status, university Web pages, event schedules and much more. More information about OIT’s kiosks is available at oit.ncsu.edu/student-kiosks.

FollowMe Printing allows you to avoid long lines at busy printers. Choose a convenient campus location to pick up your print job. Send it there from your laptop or Unity computing lab and pick it up within 12 hours. Each Unity lab is equipped with at least one black and white printer. Some labs also have color printers. To print from a Unity lab workstation, you must first purchase WolfPrint quota. For more information see print.ncsu.edu. More information on FollowMe Printing is available at go.ncsu.edu/followme-printing.

GENERAL INFO/RATES

- Local phone service is an optional service and is $67 per line, per semester. The charge is only refunded if you cancel service prior to the beginning of the semester.
- Service is available by completing the application at go.ncsu.edu/phone and submitting it to the Media and Student Services office in the West Dunn Building.
- There is a three-to-five business day turnaround to activate local phone service.
- Phone service includes a dial tone, voicemail, three-way calling, call return, caller ID, call waiting and expanded Triangle-Wide Calling.
- Please note: Service selections carry over from fall to spring. Each semester is billed separately.
- AT&T offers discounted celluar plans for NC State students.

VOICEMAIL

- A touch-tone telephone is required to initialize your voice mailbox, retrieve messages, change options, etc.
- To initialize your mailbox, call the voicemail system from your room phone by dialing 2-MAIL (2-6245) or (919) 512-6245 from an off-campus phone line.
- When the voicemail system answers, you will be prompted to enter a password. The initial password is 276950. This will get you into the voicemail tutorial.
- Listen and respond appropriately to the tutorial.
- Each phone number is equipped with two voice mailboxes.
- Visit go.ncsu.edu/phone for more information and a list of frequently asked questions.

- Your telephone line should ALWAYS be plugged into the top left jack.
- No dial tone? Make sure the wire is securely plugged in and not frayed. Try a different connection wire.
- Static? Jiggle the wire connecting the phone to the jack to see if the static decreases/increases.
- Try a different connection wire and phone set.
- Other problems? Make sure your cordless phone is fully charged. If you have static/interference on your phone line, try changing channels.
- Please AVOID using a 2.4 GHz cordless phone. The frequency of these phones can cause interference with the NC State wireless network.
- More troubleshooting tips can be found at go.ncsu.edu/phone.
